About the City of San Bernardino

An intriguing medley of adventures awaits visitors to the San Bernardino area. You're in the heart of it all, whether you're looking for quaint villages surrounded by apple orchards, lush green mountain resorts, the peaceful solitude of the desert, or would like to relive the saga of the Victorian California.

You'll soon discover why San Bernardino is known as "The Friendly City". Hospitality and value come first, under perennially sunny skies. Visitors can look forward to year round sunshine in our centrally located Southern California city, in the foothills of the San Bernardino Mountains, elevation 1,049.

Indians originally occupied the San Bernardino Valley. In the early 1800's the two tribes documented were the Serranos and Cahuilla Indians. Existing evidence indicates that Indian tribes may have dwelled in San Bernardino Valley for more than 4,000 years.

One of the most famous attractions in the Inland valley is the arrowhead, a natural landmark, easily seen near the base of the San Bernardino Mountains. The Arrowhead is 1,115 feet in length and 396 feet in width. Though the outline is so perfect it may appear to be man-made or artificial, but the phenomenon is, in fact, natural.

From 1819 to 1821, the San Bernardino Area was an outpost for the San Gabriel mission. During this time, missionaries established a rancho, and later an Asistencia mission where local Indian tribes were encouraged to come plant and irrigate crops. Today a reconstructed version of the original Asistencia is located on Barton Road in Redlands.

From 1842 to 1851, Indian Vaqueros inhabited the San Bernardino Valley during the Rancho Era. Life on the rancheros revolved around the raising of cattle. Accounts of life on the Spanish rancheros stress hospitality of the people, fiestas and rodeos.

From 1851 to 1857, a Mormon contingent of 500 settled in San Bernardino three years before the city was officially incorporated, Mormons comprised 75% of the San Bernardino's population. In 1857, Brigham Young called approximately 60% of the Mormons back to Utah.

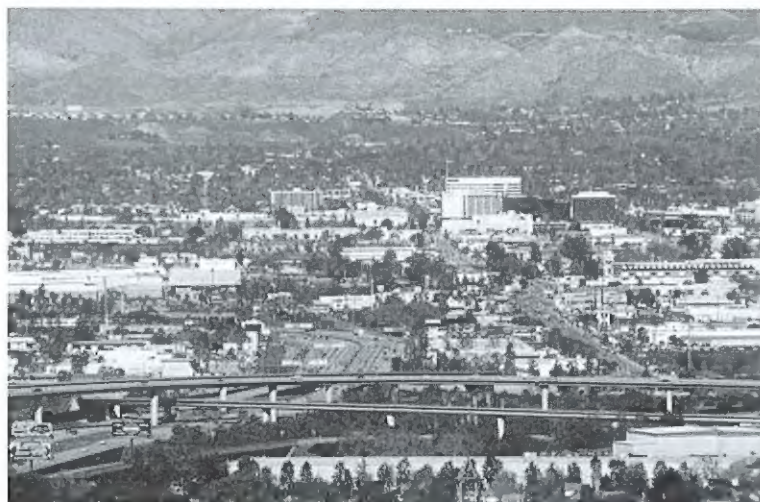

In 1860, William F. Holcomb filed gold claims in the area now known as Holcomb Valley, resulting in a major gold rush. Holcomb Valley was one of the largest gold findings in Southern California. Miners poured into the mountains through San Bernardino in search of their fortunes. For a time, Belleville, a mining town in Holcomb Valley, was the largest city in Southern California with 10,000 residents. To this day the main gold "vein" has yet to be discovered. The valley remains much the same today and gold is still found today by the "weekend miners" who make the trek with their pans and equipment.

During the 1880's, with the arrival of the railroads, San Bernardino changed from sleepy town, whose first depot was a boxcar, to an enterprising city. In 1883, the Southern Pacific arrived in Colton. In 1885, the Santa Fe completed its line into the Cajon pass into the city itself. By the 1890's San Bernardino was becoming a railroad town and import trade center. In 1918, Santa Fe built a beautiful depot, which is currently being restored to its original mission revival style. Today the railroad comes to serve business, visitors and commuters with Metrolink routes to Los Angeles, Orange County, and the beach.

In 1926, a major highway was completed connecting Chicago and Santa Monica. Bearing the designation US Route 66, it covered 2,448 miles and passed through eight states. Route 66 was the major route for vehicle travel from the populated areas of the Midwest to Southern California. The route still exists and passes through San Bernardino on its way to Santa Monica where it ends. San Bernardino was made quite famous by all the excitement of the "Mother Road" and was the destination to "get your kicks on route 66." During the third weekend in September, the route comes alive as San Bernardino celebrates with the annual "Route 66 Rendezvous." The Rendezvous is a four day, three night cruising car festival featuring over 1,900 classic and custom vehicles. This event draws over 500,000 spectators who come to experience music, food, family fun and classic cars in historic downtown San Bernardino. The wigwam motel remains one of San Bernardino's top classics, originally built in 1949 along the legendary historic route 66. The amazing 30 feet tall teepees tower above the ground, standing bold as they continue to draw motorists attention – a must see and stay!

Founded in 1936, Stater Bros Markets is the largest Supermarket Chain in the Inland Empire and the largest private employer. Of its 164 Supermarkets, 52 are located in San Bernardino County.

About San Bernardino Valley College

San Bernardino Valley College was established in 1926 and is the twenty-fifth oldest community college in California. Now in its 90th year, San Bernardino Valley College continues a proud tradition of community service through quality education -- a tradition symbolized by its clock tower and auditorium.

The growth of San Bernardino Valley College over the years demonstrates its increasingly important role in the life of the community. In 1926, San Bernardino Valley College's campus was split between San Bernardino High School and Colton High School and consisted of 140 students and one administrator, George H. Jantzen, who was Dean of the College. Today, San Bernardino Valley College offers classes to 25,000 students and runs on an annual budget of $59 million. The college district, which includes two campuses, has 243 full-time faculty, 750 part-time faculty and staff of 459. It serves many high school districts, and the district encompasses nearly 500 square miles.

As part of the state system of community colleges, San Bernardino Valley College is dedicated to providing educational opportunities at minimum cost. Central to San Bernardino Valley College's philosophy is the idea of general education - a system of instruction that gives the student a basic competence in written and spoken English, mathematics, history and government; a regard for health, both mental and physical; a grasp of the basic disciplines and methodologies of human and scientific study, and knowledge in some depth of chosen subject area.

The college offers degrees in the arts and sciences to students who successfully complete a comprehensive two-year course study.

This course study corresponds to the lower division requirements of the University of California and the California State University system, so qualified students can transfer to four-year institutions with junior standing. San Bernardino Valley College transfer students have demonstrated a high success rate in continuing their education at the four-year College and university level.

While recognizing the importance of a general education, the college also recognizes an obligation to provide specialized programs leading directly to employment or to improving the skill and knowledge of those already employees in the work force. To achieve this, the college offers multiple programs in technical and occupational fields. Courses may be taken individually to improve specific skills or as part of a program leading to an Associate of Arts or Associate of Science and or a Certificate of Completion in specific occupational fields.

Qualified students can even combine work and study through work experience programs. San Bernardino Valley College was a pioneer in the work/study concept.

In addition to general and occupational programs, San Bernardino Valley College offers developmental programs for students who need to improve basic skills before taking advanced classes, counseling and guidance programs, and service for disabled students, veterans and other adults. San Bernardino Valley College has been a leader in programs for the physically handicapped, including adaptive physical education classes.

San Bernardino Valley College also offers its students a diverse selection of clubs. At San Bernardino Valley College there are more than 30 clubs and organizations representing a variety of academic and career pursuits. There are also a number of special interest groups.

San Bernardino Valley College has one of the most active student government programs in the state. In addition, the college offers its students opportunities to get involved with the college's pep squad, musical groups, and theater group.

SBVC Stadium

The on-campus home of the Wolverines, SBVC Stadium received a brand new look before the 2005 season when the original grass field was replaced with a state-of-the-art artificial surface that has been installed at both high schools and colleges over the past few years.

The surface, which has a base made of recycled radial tires, is designed to provide a consistent playing surface while also taking care to address injury concerns connected to old-fashioned artificial surfaces.

The renovated surface was dedicated on September 10, 2005 and the Wolverines made a successful debut on the field, defeating L.A. Pierce 41-26.

THE COACHES

Head Coach
Offensive Coordinator & Offensive Line Coach

Jason Vandiver

1ST SEASON

Coach Jason Vandiver enters his 1st season as the head coach at San Bernardino Valley College. Last season he was the Offensive Coordinator at Los Angeles Valley College where Vandiver successfully led one of the highest scoring offenses in the CCCAA. Prior to his appointment as Offensive Coordinator, Vandiver served as the Run Game Coordinator and Offensive Line Coach at Fullerton College.

Vandiver is a Southern California native who began his college playing career with the Fullerton College Hornets from 2002-2005. During his playing career with the Fullerton Hornets, he was a two time All-Orange Empire Conference, two time All-State, two time All-American Tight End and received his AA degree in Liberal Arts.

After spending three years at Fullerton College, Vandiver transferred to the Oregon State University Beavers where he went on to graduate with a Bachelor's degree in sociology. In his senior season at OSU, Vandiver was invited to play in the 2007 Cornerstone BankCard HULA Bowl in Hawaii.

After OSU, Vandiver came back to coach at his alma mater, Fullerton College. While he was with the Hornets, the team racked up 6 consecutive conference championships as well as a CCCAA state championship game in 2013. Vandiver completed his Master's Degree in Physical Education from Azusa Pacific University.

Offensive Scheme

The San Bernardino Valley College Offense is a part of the Wolverine Football Team. We want to complement the defense and special teams with offensive packages that have low turnover, utilize multiple formations tempo changes, and create space for skilled athletes. The Wolverines Offense is a mix between Mike Riley Oregon State/Nebraska, Paul Chryst/Wisconsin, and Gus Malzahn/Auburn style.

This offense will spray the ball all over the field every game to multiple skill position players using our high powered run game, passing game and screen game attacks. We will grade ourselves on effort and doing our job. We want to play the game like it was meant to be played – be physical, tough, and smart. We will run the ball with dominate offensive line play. We will utilize multiple Tight ends, multiple running backs, and multiple Wide Receiver sets to create matchup nightmares for our opponents.

We ask our offensive lineman to master: the quick and drop back pass protection skills; running reach techniques for both pass and run plays.

We will utilize positive blocking angles to gain an advantage over our opponents. We will work very hard at blocking movement. We will establish the run game with a physical offensive line. Our RB must be the best blocker on the offense and a great ball handler. This group must have excellent ball security while running physical & hard. We played 5 backs this past year you must be ready to roll when you are called.

The WR position must love to compete. They must have a passion for blocking and never ever take a play off. You must have a great knowledge of the game and be able to make full speed decisions on the blocking and route running assignments.

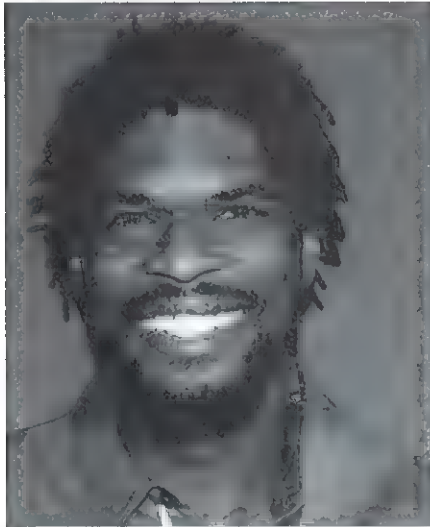

Most important of all is the Quarterback. He must be a calm, cool, and collect field general who's number one objective is to take care of the football and take what the defense gives him. He must have an understanding of what the game plan is and how we can attack mismatches to get the ball into the playmakers hands. He should have a high completion percentage especially on 3rd down.

2015 SEASON IN REVIEW

2016 SAN BERNARDINO VALLEY COLLEGE FOOTBALL

2015-2016 Season In Review

The 2015-16 school year turned out to be yet another success for Wolverines' athletic programs. The sports combined to win seven Conference championships (women's soccer, men's cross country, football, women's basketball and men's basketball), the third straight State Finals appearance for Women's Cross Country, an impressive record breaking season for Women's Track in the 3000 meter Steeplechase and an individual State Championship for Men's Track in the 5000 meter run.

In addition, SBVC's programs celebrated historic firsts and milestones: men's basketball, men's cross country, men's soccer and football being honored with the Conference Coach of the Year awards. The men's basketball coach surpassed 200 career victories and the baseball coach surpassed 600 career victories. In addition, for the first time ever, a softball player being named Conference MVP in back-to-back seasons.

FOOTBALL

Under second-year coach John Shipp, SBVC finished with a record 9-2 overall and 6-1 in conference. As a reward for winning the American Division-Mountain Conference title and going to the Golden State Bowl, Coach Shipp was handed Coach of the Year honors.

This is the first Coach of the Year award for head coach John Shipp who guided SBVC as the top three scoring team in the state and his offensive juggernaut was consistently ranked throughout the year, averaging 41.4 points per game. As a reward for their winning record, the team was bestowed with six first team All-Mountain Conference honors and eight second team All-Mountain Conference honors.

On the field, sophomore wide receiver Mason Rutherford (Ashland (KY) Fairview) was a beast as the tip of the spear for the SBVC passing attack, finishing top ten in the SCFA with 919 yards garnering him a first team All-Mountain Conference offense selection. He played in 10 of 11 games for SBVC, scored 8 touchdowns; his 119.8 yards per game put Rutherford in the top three in Conference and had 200+ yard reception games against Victor Valley and East L.A.

Also being named first team All-Mountain Conference offense was freshman running back Deion Walker (Matthews (NC) Butler), who punished teams as the leader of the SBVC rushing game. He led the entire State of California in yards per game with 144.3 and finished second in the state in rushing yards with 1,259. Walker finished second in the state in rushing touchdowns with 19 and second in the state in yards per carry with 8.7. Of the nine games he played, six of those games he had over 115 yards and had a dominating performance against Southwestern on Homecoming Night, where Walker collected 273 yards and three scores. In week three at home against Glendale, Walker collected Mountain Conference Player of the Week honors.

Also being named first team All-Mountain Conference offense and the reason that Walker and Rutherford could grab all of those yards was the hard work and dedication by sophomore center Sheldon Edwards (Etiwanda H.S.) and sophomore offensive lineman Paul Ramirez-Diaz (Rialto H.S.).

Being named first team All-Mountain Conference defense was sophomore inside linebacker Temerick Harper (Rialto W.A. Carter). Known for his devastating tackles, especially on quarterbacks who decided to try and run, Harper was the leading tackler for SBVC with 80 total, collecting three sacks and two picks. Harper had a 32-yard fumble return for a touchdown in the 4th quarter against Southwestern on November 7.

Also being named first team All-Mountain Conference defense was sophomore outside linebacker Colbert Calhoun (Riverside John Wesley North). He was the second leading tackler for SBVC with 66 total tackles, grabbing 3.5 sacks, an interception and nine broken up passes. It was Calhoun's 4th quarter performance at home versus Victor Valley which saved the 28-27 victory for SBVC. He not only recovered a fumble and carried it 24 yards, eventually leading to a game tying passing touchdown, but with just under 2:30 left in the game Calhoun also blocked an extra point attempt by Victor Valley.

On the second team offense All-Mountain Conference is sophomore quarterback Daniel Epperson (Phelan Serrano), a second team All-Mountain Conference selection, who became the leading career passer in SBVC Football history with 4485 yards, had the top completion percentage in the Conference, completing 60.7% of his passes. He started all 11 games for SBVC in 2015, with three games of 300+ yards of passing and three 4 touchdown games. He also finished top three in completions, attempts, yards, yards per game, and touchdowns. In week one at home against Santa Barbara City, Epperson collected Mountain Conference Player of the Week honors.

Also named second team All-Mountain Conference offense was freshman place kicker Alex Raya (Beaumont H.S.) who was devastating with his extra point attempts, converting 95% (41-43) and was 9 of 16 on his field goal attempts. Raya connected on four field goals over 35 yards and two over 40 yards. His skill set was the difference in victories at West LA, at home against Victor Valley and at East LA.

Also named second team All-Mountain Conference offense was freshman tight end Samuel Dominguez (Riverside La Sierra) who was brilliant in short yardage red zone situations. He had 6 catches for 74 yards and two touchdowns, but had his biggest touchdown of the year at home against Victor Valley on October 17th when Dominguez caught the winning touchdown for SBVC with 4:39 left in the game.

Also named second team All-Mountain Conference offense and the reason that Epperson and Raya could collect all of those points was the hard work and dedication by freshman offensive lineman Joey Palmer (Thornville (OH) Sheridan). Being named second team All-Mountain Conference defense was sophomore defensive tackle Nick Aguirre (Fontana Henry J. Kaiser) who finished third on the team in total tackles with 63 and collecting 2.5 sacks. His best performance was week one against Santa Barbara City, where he grabbed 13 total tackles and for his efforts he was named Mountain Conference Player of the Week for week one.

Also named second team All-Mountain Conference defense was sophomore defensive end Chibuike Nwuda (La Verne Damien) who finished 6th in the State of California with 13 sacks, finishing 11th in the state in tackles for loss with 19, totaling a loss of 91 yards. Nwuda had a pick-six at home against Mt. San Jacinto on September 26th, rumbling 36 yards for the score and was in absolute "beast mode" at home against Glendale on September 19th when he had 5 sacks for a loss of 38 yards and was awarded Mountain Conference Player of the Week for week three.

Also named second team All-Mountain Conference defense was sophomore corner back Daniel Gonzales (Redlands East Valley) who was tied for 10th in the State of California for interceptions with five, none bigger than the interception in the end zone to secure the victory at West LA in overtime.

Also named second team All-Mountain Conference defense was sophomore safety Jeffrey Harman (Redlands East Valley) was a force in the secondary as he finished 5th on the team in total tackles with 51 and two interceptions.
